

Common Recruitment Examination and Basic Law Test (Degree / Professional Grades) (CRE and BLT)

Frequently Asked Questions

About CRE results

- Q1 : How are the CRE results classified?
- A1 : Candidates' results in the Use of English (UE) and Use of Chinese (UC) papers are classified as Level 2, Level 1 or Fail, with Level 2 being the highest. Results in the Aptitude Test (AT) paper are classified as Pass or Fail. Level 2 and Level 1 results of the two language papers and Pass result of the AT paper are of permanent validity.
- Q2 : What are the required levels of results in the two language papers for the application of different civil service posts at degree or professional level?
- A2 : As a general requirement in language proficiency, applicants for civil service posts at degree or professional level are required to obtain either Level 2 or Level 1 in the UE and UC papers in the CRE. Such requirement will be stipulated by individual recruiting grades / departments in the relevant recruitment advertisements. Applicants with Level 2 in the UE and UC papers will be considered as meeting the language proficiency requirements of all degree or professional grades.
- Q3 : If I intend to join the disciplined services grades, do I need to take the CRE?
- A3 : Some disciplined services grades, such as Police Inspector, offer different entry pay points to candidates according to their academic qualifications. Degree holders without the requisite CRE results may apply for these posts but will not be eligible for obtaining the pay points for degree entry. Therefore, it is advisable for degree holders who wish to join these grades to take the CRE.
- Q4 : I have Level 2 or Level 1 in the UE and UC papers only. Is it a must for me to take the AT paper?
- A4 : Certain civil service posts at degree or professional level require Level 2 or Level 1 in the UE and UC papers only. If you wish to apply for civil service posts that also require a Pass in the AT paper, you will need to take the AT paper.
- Q5 : Is it a must to take all three papers in the coming CRE if I have just failed one or two of the papers? Will you accept valid results in the three papers obtained from different CREs?
- A5 : Results are issued for individual papers. You may therefore choose to take only one or any combination of papers which you have failed to attain the requisite results of particular civil service posts. For the purpose of applying for civil service posts, results obtained from different CREs can be taken together as long as the results are all valid at the time of the job application. About HKALE, GCE A Level and IELTS results

Q6 : I have passed the Use of English in the Hong Kong Advanced Level Examination (HKALE) (or English Language in the General Certificate of Education (Advanced Level) (GCE A Level)) and / or Chinese Language and Culture in the HKALE. Will I be exempted from the CRE?

A6 : Grade C or above in Use of English of the HKALE or in English Language of the GCE A Level is accepted as equivalent to Level 2 in the UE paper of the CRE. Grade C or above in Chinese Language and Culture or Chinese Language and Literature of the HKALE is accepted as equivalent to Level 2 in the UC paper of the CRE. If you have the above result(s), you need not, and will not be arranged to, take the UE and / or UC paper(s).

Grade D in Use of English of the HKALE or in English Language of the GCE A Level is accepted as equivalent to Level 1 in the UE paper of the CRE. Grade D in Chinese Language and Culture or Chinese Language and Literature of the HKALE is accepted as equivalent to Level 1 in the UC paper of the CRE. If you have the above result(s), you may wish to take this into account in deciding whether you need to take the UE and / or UC paper(s) having regard to the requirements of civil service post\(s\) in which you are interested.

Q7 : (Follow up question to A6) I have Grade C or above in the said subjects in the HKALE / GCE A Level. Do I still need to take the two language papers of the CRE?

A7 : If you have Grade C or above in Use of English of the HKALE or in English Language of the GCE A Level, and Chinese Language and Culture or Chinese Language and Literature of the HKALE, you will be considered as meeting the general language proficiency requirements of all degree or professional grades. Thus, you need not, and will NOT be arranged, to take the UE and UC papers of the CRE.

Q8 : (Follow up question to A7) I only have Grade D in the said subjects in HKALE / GCE A Level. Does it mean that I still have to take the two language papers of the CRE to obtain Level 2?

A8 : As a general requirement in language proficiency, applicants for civil service posts at degree or professional level are required to obtain either Level 2 or Level 1 in the UE and UC papers in the CRE as required by individual recruiting grades / departments. You may wish to refer to the requirements of civil service post\(s\) in which you are interested to decide whether you need to take the UE and / or UC paper(s).

Q9 : I have taken the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) test. Will I be exempted from the CRE?

A9 : An overall band score of 6.5 or above with no subtest score below band 6 obtained in the same sitting in the Academic Module of the IELTS within the 2-year validity period of the test is accepted as equivalent to Level 2 in the UE paper of the CRE. If you have the above results, and are certain that the relevant IELTS results will still be valid at the time of the job application, you may consider whether to take the UE paper in the CRE.

Q10 : I have valid IELTS results as mentioned in A9. Can I still take the UE paper of the CRE?

A10 : You can still take the UE paper of the CRE even though you have valid IELTS results.

Q11 : Will you accept a combination of IELTS results obtained from different sittings as an equivalent to the results of the UE paper of the CRE?

A11 : No, we only accept IELTS results in the overall band and subtests obtained in the same sitting.

Q12 : Will you accept a combination of results obtained from CRE, HKALE, GCE A Level and IELTS?

A12 : For meeting the general language proficiency requirements of degree or professional grades, a combination of results obtained from CRE, HKALE, GCE A Level and IELTS will be accepted, provided that all the results are valid at the time of the job application. Relevant results obtained in different CRE / HKALE / GCE A Level sittings will be accepted (e.g. a Pass in AT paper obtained in the CRE held in December 2006, Level 2 obtained in the UE paper of the CRE in June 2007 and Grade C in the Chinese Language and Culture of the HKALE in 2001). As for IELTS, only results obtained in the same sitting will be accepted.

Q13 : Apart from the results of HKALE, GCE A Level and IELTS, are there any public examination results being accepted as equivalent to CRE results?

A13 : At present, only the relevant results of HKALE, GCE A Level and IELTS are accepted as equivalent to CRE results.
